IRON TO BEAT STEEL

Why the Former Excels the Latter for Steamboat Shafts.

POOR STEEL LIKE PLATE GLASS.

Better for a Strain. CHATS WITH MEN WHO KNOW ABOUT IT

A revulsion of feeling regarding the supposed superiority of steel over iron for heavy shafts for steamboats has been gaining strength for some time, and it is said finat nearly all steel shafts that break nowadays are being replaced by iron. It is also stated that those made by Krupp, the German iron worker, have fared netter in builders' estimation than some made in this country.

Cousiderable inquiry was made on the subject yesterday, and the only one who gave a good word for the steel shaft was Mr. David Shaw, Superintendent of the steel works at Chartiers. He stated that he thought good steel would answer the purpose, but that some kinds would be no better than pig iron.

Mr. James A. Henderson stated that the shafts on the Scotia, Katie Stockdale, John Moran and Beaver had all been replaced lately with iron. Mr. Henderson explained that steel seemed to be affected something like French plate glass. When a fracture is layed until the matter was settled. This was done yesterday, when he Governor sigued the new street railway bill, and within two hours after the bill was signed the representatives of the road called upon Chlef Rigelow and secured a permit to proceed with the work.

The route of the extension will be down Third avenue from Market street to Fourth avenue, thence across Liberty street to Fourth avenue, thence across Liberty street to Fourth avenue, thence across Liberty street to Fourth avenue from Market street, down Fourth avenue from Market street to Fourth avenue, thence across Liberty street to Fourth avenue from Market street to Fourth avenue. The second across Liberty street to Fourth avenue for the road that steel seemed to be affected something like French plate glass. When a fracture is made in the latter, it continues to extend, un-less a hole be bored at the end thereof, and the Upright Plane, $200. Square Plane, $150. manner in which the particles of steel were pressed together appeared to deprive them of macity or coherence. Mr. Henderson instanced the familiar experience of finding broken from axles on various kinds of vehicles, where it is often seen that the axle has been doing duty for a long time partially broken, the old fracture being plainly visible. With steel it is different. When a shaft begins to give way the fracture extends randly. Iron shafts have been known to do duty for a quarter of a century, doing good service long after the fissure began to yield.

A gentleman at the office of Carnegie, Phipps & Co. stated that they had made quite a number of iron shafts for steamboats lately. He attributed their superior strength to the fine quality of iron used in making them, and to their superior strength. heir superior torsional strength.

From the above it may be inferred that the qualities that go to make steel superior to iron for rails are not called into play, or are not adapted to the strain a shaft is required to

POR SALE — THOUGHTFUL PERSONS IN buying a home will take into account the surroundings and probabilities of enhancement of value; convenience to good improvements is a leading consideration; also rapid transit to and from the business part of the city; the quality of the nouses in the neighborhood goes for a good deal; as to build or buy a handsome stone or brick residence and have interior houses go up afterward on adjoining lots detracts from the value of the first; to buy on a neatly paved street, with severs, gas and water already laid, is important; one then knows what the whole cost is, and has not to worry about the cost of future grading and paving. All these items and many more are covered at the handsome new dwellings on Oakland Square (formerly Linden Grove), which need only be seen to be appreciated. The price is $6,500 and and $6,750, payable on easy terms, for elegant, thoroughly well built and commodious houses, standing apart, on lots $20,100, and fitted with all the modern conveniences. All the houses from the modern conveniences, and upon a handsome park planted with shaie trees; old forest trees plentifully shade the neighborhood. The cable cars are now but six minutes' distant, and will be brought still nearer. These houses are rapidly selling, being pronounced bargains at present prices. Apply to SAMUEL W.
